WILMER, B.C., THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1904.

A staunch Liberal was having an argument the other day when he told of a fellow-miner wearing cotton clothing with the temperature about zero, and all the time cheering for the duty on foreign wool.

A new branch of science, called "psychomechanics," has received special attention in France from Dr. Charles Fere. His results shows that a man has a greater capacity for average than for either intense or feeble work, and that one's powers vary greatly with mental conditions. Contrary to general belief, mental work does not rest one who is physically tired, or vice versa. Capacity for work increases to a certain degree with heating of the head; light has a stimulating action and darkness depresses; even colors have some influence, while sounds have a complex and variable effect; and odor and taste seem to stimulate and then depress to a greater degree. Digestion, aside from the taste-stimulation, diminishes muscular work. Most nerve-poisons—including opium, hashish, valerian, alcohol, tobacco, coffee and tea—produce a transitory stimulation, and this is followed by depression, which diminishes the total work.

I am more and more convinced the longer I live that the very best advice that was ever given from friend to friend is contained in those four words: "Mind your own business," the following of it would save many a headache. Its observance would insure against every sort of wrangling. When we mind our own business we are sure of success in what we undertake, and may count upon a glorious immunity from failure. When the husbandman harvests a crop by hanging over the fence and watching his neighbor hoe weeds, it will be time for you and for me to achieve renown in any undertaking in which we do not mind our own business. If I had a family of young folks to give advice to, my early, late and constant admonition would be always and everywhere to "mind their own business," thus should they too harmony and peace, and live to enjoy something like the completeness of life.—Ex.

The ordinary Whitehead or automobile torpedo consists of a cigar-shaped steel cylinder about 18 inches in diameter and 18 feet long, which carries in its forward end about 200 pounds of high explosive with a percussion fuse, while the central portion is a reservoir for air at a pressure of 1,500 pounds per square inch, and the rear end contains the compressed air motor driving the propellers. A gyroscopic rudder keeps the torpedo on a straight course. The air supply lasts about a minute, driving the torpedo half a mile, and as this speed is exceeded by some cruisers and other vessels there is risk that a vessel may overtake a torpedo fired while at full speed from its own prow. To guard against this danger is the purpose of Hudson Maxim's late invention. With motorite, a fuel somewhat resembling smokeless powder, he instantaneously generates steam for the torpedo engine, doubling the ordinary power and ensuring a speed beyond the swiftest cruiser or torpedo-boat destroyer.

It is quite true that every man has troubles of his own and it is also quite true that many of them actually believe that their particular troubles are the heaviest to bear. Each person has it figured out that no one else can really understand how very irksome his life is. Knowing this it might be expected that each individual would try to make life more pleasant for his neighbor, naturally. But human nature is not what most of us would like to credit it with. Despite our boasted civilization it is a fact that men are constantly shoving their burdens on to their neighbors' shoulders—like peevish children. If a man cannot make a success of his business, his profession, or his trade, he never puts it down to his own inability or fault; but he invariably puts the blame on someone else, or the town or country in which he resides. So much so is this the case that it really seems to be the nature of the animal—called "man." For ages it has been the object of all thinking men to teach a higher standard of thought. They have tried to teach men to be self-reliant. And yet the progress in this direction is truly woefully slow.

Fellow Pilgrims All!

Should you in your wanderings about this mundane sphere have an itching soul in your anatomy to read a real live newspaper giving all the news of North East Kootenay, read the OUTCROP. This up-to-date Print Palace is located in the heart of the most beautiful valley in North America, surrounded by weathered mountains and close to the richest white metal mines in the world. The Outcrop is read in hundreds of places in the Western Hemisphere and the lodge has been uncovered in the Eastern Hemisphere in such places as England, Ireland, Scotland, France, India, South Africa, Germany and Australia. It comes to the front every Thursday, and has never been raised by the sheriff. It waits for the Trail Blazer as well as the stout and shifty-eyed capitalist. Its editor is poor, but also to be a millionaire, he being on the right side of all things, and believe the righteous should all go to Paradise as a just hell should be dealt out according to the whimsies accomplished.

A High Grade Chute of Job Printing is uncovered and is worked for the benefit of Humanity and the Editor.

iness of hardiness of trees depends largely upon where the seeds from which the trees in question sprang came from. Satisfactory results are seldom expected by planting a seed obtained from the sunny south, say, by planting seeds generally farther north, however, trees may be a right handed and acclimated until a seed from one tree may be reasonably expected to thrive and mature in its fruit.Trees, like people, acquire their habits from the climate in which they live.
The southern tree knows instinctively when the time has come to ripen its fruits. The southern tree follows the same instinct, being in no hurry, as there is little likelihood of the cold with transplanting farther north its habit changes.The great trouble with most people is that they want to jump a tree from south to north in one move. This same idea is evident in the attempt to bring various fruit trees from Russia to the northern United States.Apples and plums from the land of the great white bear have taken kindly to the below zero conditions of the great Dakotas.Queer Korean Women.The women of the community are available and strong and ever ready to step a hundred of stars into the eyes of a husband or into those of a timid and shrinking tourist should the certain case arise. The women of the upper classes are rigorously excluded from amorous eyes and a heavy veil of thanks is due the community who fathered this unwomanly law. The daily little Japanese woman, bustling along in her sari or an wooden geta, is a genuine revelation to the eye after a view of the unusually Korean woman.Until Korean boys are married and acquire the pounds dignity of the topknot they are in with girl fashion in two parts down their backs. So much do they resemble girls that it is sometimes difficult to determine the sex and one is sometimes innocently surprised to observe what he is positive are two girls sprawling and valiantly fighting in a Korean street.A Wife's Stratagem.A London Journal tells an admirable story of beautiful Kesa, who loved her husband, but who was herself sought for her wicked and powerful cousin, Molto. Knowing that Molto would take for his bride the life unless circumvented by wife she had a terrible plot. Summoning Molto, she told him that on a certain night her husband was to be sleeping in a certain room and that she intended to smother him but that under no circumstances could he be disturbed. The cunning man-trick in question Molto entered the room, covered the sleeper's head with a sheet and, finding him to be dead, he hid behind the face of Kesa herself.Customs of Cultures' Wives.The wives of most countries observe a very touching and pathetic custom when an accident occurs to the pill. Directly it is known to be a case of a collar that an accident has happened, the wife who her husband works and that his fate is uncertain she shows even the house door, and tells the man is brought home, dead or alive. In some cases, the door has remained open and the candle light burns several weeks—London Chronicle.Dogs as Collectors.Dogs are collecting boxes attached to their collars are comparatively common in Europe. It may not, however, be generally known what large sums they carry for the charities they represent. It is stated in the Animal World that one which used to beg for a box in Ireland collected in five years nearly $150,000. He had a special account, which was maintained periodically to a charitable institution.Philosophy.If we would realize the fact that life is pain, not pleasure, our quarrel with it would be gone, and we would accept thankfully a little scrap of dripping on our daily bread, but we go on expecting happiness, stand, empty plate in hand, beggars on an invisible cook, and we grow old standing there, but we won't budge—Helen Matthers.Macheth as a Comedian.She—I suppose you attended the amateur theatricals last night? He—Yes, and there wasn't a dry eye in the house. She—The idea! I never heard of "Macheth" affecting an audience that way before. He—Yes, you see, we simply laughed till we cried.A Reminder.Singleton—I say, old chap, what have you got scribbled around your finger for? Weddler—to remind me of something I am to get for my wife, Singleton—What is it you to get? Wed-dler—Wig, I've forgotten what it was.They Were Not There."Are these not the future husbands of my daughters?" said a matron at the afternoon social wedding reception.
"No," said a knowing mother. "They are down town, making a living."Too Much Chin.Garway—My nature is pretty poor condition. I believe it's tired. You know, they get faster get that way.
Shirley (overly)—Ah, you tired of your chin."Lots of men," said Uncle Eben, "kin bad, who are let kin talk like wise, but do not let kin let wise is mighty scarce." —Buckingham.A Madman's Delusion.Dean Pizon tells the following story of a brilliant man who lost his mind temporarily through overwork and was confined in an English asylum. "His delusion was that his stomach was full to repletion of rats. There was no room for anything else. He said to me, 'Go and talk with him and lead him to the subject of rats.' I found him, as is very common, perfectly sane on every subject but this. After some conversation I said to him, 'Telling me to know who he was. You are to be a very well informed man. Have you given your attention to natural history, because I notice that the position is being discussed as to whether the species of the genus rat called the Norwegian still exists.' Instantly he replied:
'Oh, certainly,' and unhesitatingly, his dress, said, 'I've known species of rat, sir, is here in my stomach,' and, boiling the rat with his finger, said:
'Here in this part of my stomach is a Norwegian rat. You can assure your friends that as long as I am alive no species can die.' Under the kind and humane treatment of Bethlehem he was soon at work again and had, of course, no recollection of his delusion."Reading in Bed.Commenting upon the recent discussion of the habit of reading in bed, American Medicine concludes that the position is literally prone the habit is bad, because in such a position the eyes are fixed upon the book, and the light and harmful way and the book cannot be sufficiently illuminated.
But if one sits propped up by pillows, in much the same position of the head and trunk as when in a chair, there can be no evil consequences, provided a good light is rightly placed behind and at one side of the head.The greatest argument for reading in bed is that the attention is not distracted by the discomfort of the body, the moans and interruptions of the other things. Let one take an erect position of the body and head, be assured he has a good result and that his light is strong, white, steady and properly placed. He may then read with humility and discomfort cautions him to stop.Long House Prayer.The Swiss missionaries have a custom of reading through speaking trumpets at dusk each evening. "Praise the Lord God!" This call may be started by one husband and is answered by the other, from neighboring peaks, the sound being prolonged as it reverberates from one mountain to another. After a short interval, somebody devoted to prayer, a herald calls in the same manner, "Good night!" This too being repeated by his family. Then all retire to their beds.
The impressiveness of these calls, echoing and reverberating from peak and mountain to mountain, can easily be imagined.Asking a Great Deal."Yes, sir," said the lady principal of the college for girls, "we are proud of the thorough athletic training we give our students. We see that they have very attention from competent instructors and develop their physique along with their intellect."
"Am—yes," observed the father.
"You make them strong and lively, do you?"
"That is one of our chief aims."
"Well, do you think you are asking Lizzie here so that in time she will be strong enough to help her mother do the dishwashing when the cook is on strike?"Spaced the Hibernian.On one occasion during Monmouth's residence in Italy, when making an excursion in the neighborhood of Rome with some tourists, the party was attacked by Argents. The latter, while they were the company's pockets, invited their notice. "Spare Theodor Monmouth," was the chief professor's indignant reply, whereupon the chief of the band seized his hand. He said he would soon to two men who had done so much for Italy's enemies.A Kicking Deferred.Aunt Clara to her young nephew, who has just brought a bucket into the parlor where she is sitting—Good gra-tious, Tommy, what are you doing with that bucket? Take it down to the kitchen at once. Tommy—I want you to kick it. Aunt Clara, 'cause I heard papa saying when you kick the bucket we'd get at the very best $25.00.Panama.It is supposed by some that Panama derived its name from the native word for (literally) swarms of butterflies which at times rise on the slopes of the mountains in dense clouds, darkening the summit. Others maintain that the name is from an Indian word meaning abounding in fish.A Reminder."There's said the tailor, 'that suit certainly fits you perfectly.'
"Yes, indeed, you may justly feel proud of that," replied the customer.
"It's a credit to you."
"Well—er—I hope you won't forget it's a debt to you."—Exchanges.Respect."Children don't seem to have as much respect for their parents as formerly."
"No," answered the cynic, "and I have never quite been able to make my mind whether this is because more children are less dutiful or more disrespectful."Sonlighting Sleep.Vexed—There is no remedy

Rifle Association.

Somewhat Ancient but Interesting—Mr. Hammond Gives Silver Cup as Prize

Editor The Outcrop:

The following are minutes of the General Annual Meeting of the Windermere Rifle Association held in the Windermere Hotel, April 8, 1904:

Present J. Bulman, R. A. Klumpson, J.
C. Pitts, Rev. E. St. G. Smyth, P. Knapton, J. A. Stoddart, S. Hewson, Jas.
D. Fraser, E. N. Russell and V. F. Dunn.

John Bulman was re-elected Captain for the ensuing year, and Rev. E. St. G.
Smyth Sec.-Treasurer.

The Executive Committee was appointed, consisting of John Bulman, Rev. E. St. G. Smyth, Colin Cameron, V. F. Dunn and P. Knapton.

A letter was read from Mr. H. C.
Hammond, of Toronto, offering to present a silver cup to be shot for under certain conditions which was referred to the Executive Committee, and a hearty vote of thanks was given to Mr. Hammond.

It was decided that the dates for practice shooting be left in the hands of the Executive Committee.

A motion carried that J. Bulman and Rev. E. St. G. Smyth be appointed auditors.

The meeting then closed with a hearty vote of thanks to Captain Bulman for his services during the past year.

E. ST. G. SMYTH, Secretary.

Subscriptions from members is now due and must be paid before ammunition is issued. A friendly match between a team from Calgary is being arranged for this month about the 24th, and it is hoped the Windermere match-team will come forward early and get some practice before the Calgary team arrives. The range is now open on Saturday afternoons.

JOHN BULMAN, Captain.

Croppings

The Outcrop job printing is the best.

A. R. Yates went to Golden last week returning on the Parmigan Saturday.

Tom Brown and Jack Hurst have gone up No. 3 creek to cut a new trail from the bridge around to the far end of the big "hogback" which the present trail goes over. The Government has allowed them $150 for the trail and it will be well spent.

A message received from Capt. Armstrong on Monday stated that owing to low water the steamer Parmigan would not start up the river on Tuesday, but would make her regular trip on Friday.
Owing to the cool weather the water had fallen considerably.

La grippe has been working on The Outcrop staff for several weeks and it has been with great difficulty that a paper has been got out. This week work was suspended several days, so we ask that our efforts be not criticized very severely. It has been said that "war is hell" and we believe la grippe is war.

The last shipment of silver from the Trail refinery, about 51,000 ounces, was made about ten days ago. It was consigned to Shanghai. With it was 50 ounces of fine gold consigned to the same port. About 15,000 ounces of fine silver will be sent away sometime this week.
Regular shipments of gold are being made, most of it going to cities in eastern Canada—Nelson News.

Dave Hale was in Wilmer on Tuesday night and he at last found some townsmen he has been in search of for a year and a half. A year ago last fall the townsmen were sent by a local merchant to him at the Parmigan mine, but he brought them down without giving them and left them at the Hotel Delphine in a parcel.
"Dime haunts" that day and thereafter Dave declared he never had seen the towns and others said he had and the merchant wanted his pay. When the parcel was opened, Dave the merchant was present, and, well, everybody in sight had to take the "nothing" second hand.

Dime haunts is held every Sunday evening at 8 o'clock at the Hotel, Wilmer.
Admission 10 cents.
